Message from the Director Institutional Research and Assessment

I am pleased to provide you with the first edition of the Lebanese American University Fact Book 2009.

The publishing of this first edition of the Fact Book coincides with major events in the history of LAU's development and advancement towards excellence. In 2009-2010, the Gilbert and Rose-Marie Chagoury School of Medicine opened its doors to receive the first class of students. The academic year 2009-2010 marked the founding of the Alice Ramez Chagoury School of Nursing which is scheduled to admit its first class of undergraduates in Fall 2010. As this Fact Book goes to print, LAU awaits the decision of the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the New England Association of Schools and Colleges (CIHE-NEASC) regarding its status. LAU is hopeful the commission will grant the institution full accreditation after becoming a candidate for accreditation in 2007.

It is hoped that this initial Lebanese American University Fact Book 2009 will serve its purpose, which is to present useful and relevant information on important institutional measures in support of decision-making. The Fact Book contains student enrollment and admissions data compiled as of the official census date in addition to other important factual information about the institution.

I am grateful to the members of the LAU community and the various departments for their assistance in providing data for the Fact Book.

Your suggestions and comments regarding the content and format for the enhancement of the Fact Book are welcomed. For questions and comments regarding the Lebanese American University Fact Book 2009, please do not hesitate to contact Dr. Diane Nauffal, Director of the Office of Institutional Research and Assessment at extension 1232 or by e-mail at diane.nauffal@lau.edu.lb.

Diane I. Nauffal, Ph.D.

General Information

ABOUT THE INSTITUTION

History and Location

The Lebanese American University is a leading not-for-profit private institution of higher education in Lebanon, operating under a charter from the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York. Founded as a women's college in 1924, the university has expanded over the years to include two campuses in Beirut and Byblos. The Beirut campus is the site of the university's foundation, and benefits from an urban setting with direct access to the cultural, social, educational and recreational resources of Lebanon's capital city. The Byblos campus, inaugurated in 1991, predominately houses the university's professional schools.

Academic Schools and Colleges

The university is comprised of seven schools: Arts and Sciences, Architecture and Design, Business, Engineering, Pharmacy, Medicine, and Nursing.

Academic Programs and Degrees Conferred

LAU became a candidate for accreditation by the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the New England Association of Schools and Colleges (CIHE-NEASC) in 2007.

Academic offerings include 47 degree programs in 39 different major fields i.e. 7 associate degree programs, 26 bachelor's degree programs, 10 master's degree programs, 2 professional degree programs, 1 teaching diploma and 1 certificate degree program.

During the academic year 2008-2009, the university awarded 31 associate degrees, 1137 bachelor's degrees, 277 master's degrees, 26 professional degrees, 32 teaching diplomas and 1 certificate.

Faculty

Full-time faculty for fall 2009 totaled 244, of whom 26 hold the rank of professor, 55 hold the rank of associate professor and 99 hold the rank of assistant professor. 72 percent of the full-time faculty are tenured or tenure-track and 78 percent hold the doctorate or other terminal degree. Average salaries for the fiscal year 2009 are $124,179 for professors, $67,414 for associate professors, $51,580 for assistant professors, $49,593 for lecturers and $39,192 for instructors.

Enrollment

Fall 2009 enrollment totaled 7813, which included 6,880 undergraduates, 885 graduates and 48 students in professional degree programs. 89 percent of undergraduates and 33 percent of graduate and students in professional degree programs are enrolled on a full-time basis. The undergraduate student body is 55 percent male. Of the total number of students enrolled, 1,484 are from 83 foreign countries.

Admissions / Retention

1,688 first-time students enrolled for the fall 2009. 72 percent of all first-time students were accepted and 68 percent of all first-time applicants enrolled. 2,124 or 85 percent of accepted first-time students attended schools within Lebanon. 2,069 or 83 percent of accepted first-time students attended private Lebanese schools. On average, 88.6 percent of first-time students return for the fall of the next academic year. 190 or 51 percent of all undergraduate transfer applicants were accepted and 62 percent enrolled for the fall 2009. 274 or 56 percent of new graduate students were accepted and 71 percent enrolled in the fall 2009. Of the students in professional degree programs, 61 or 41 percent were accepted and 79 percent enrolled in the fall 2009.

Finance

The university's operating budget for 2009-2010 is $105,304.000, a 5 percent increase from the 2009-2008 budget, reflecting the continued growth and expansion of LAU. 14 percent was designated for financial aid for students.

Physical Facilities

The university occupies and maintains over 184,304 square meters of space of which the Beirut campus occupies 24,525 square meters, the Byblos campus 159,424 square meters, and the New York offices 355 square meters. The university is also a major shareholder that owns the University Medical Center – Rizk Hospital (UMC-RH).

THE MISSION, VALUES AND VISION OF THE LEBANESE AMERICAN UNIVERISTY

MISSION

The Lebanese American University is committed to academic excellence, student-centeredness, the advancement of scholarship, the education of the whole person, and the formation of students as future leaders in a diverse world.

VALUES

In both planning for its future as well as conducting its ongoing daily activities, LAU seeks to act in a manner that is guided by a deep-rooted sense of shared ethical values and aspirations. Built upon this foundation, the Lebanese American University:

- Draws its fundamental inspiration from the devotion of its Presbyterian Founders to always seek the Truth, respect human dignity, promote gender equality, and be inclusive;
- Provides educational opportunities as one university with two campuses, each with distinctive gifts and attributes;
- Commits to academic and service excellence throughout the institution;
- Demonstrates dignity and respect for and from the Board, faculty, staff and students in word and in deed;
- Celebrates the accomplishments and contributions of all members of the LAU community;
- Succeeds because its people take pride of ownership and are held accountable for their actions;
- Works together as an extended family community that reflects the highest ethical and moral standards;
- Enables individuals to find their own spiritual and personal fulfillment while ever sensitive to the changing global village in which they live;
- Promotes social connectedness of the students to the country of Lebanon; and encourages their commitment to social justice and democracy.

VISION

The vision of the Lebanese American University is driven by its mission and values. The vision for LAU will be carried out through:

- Providing access to a superior education for diverse undergraduate and graduate students and lifelong learners;
- Attracting and retaining distinguished faculty who excel in teaching, research and community service;
- Enrolling and retaining academically qualified and diverse students;
- Embracing liberal arts in all curricula;
- Creating opportunities for rigorous research and the dissemination of knowledge;
- Developing a close-knit community that excels academically, is intellectually stimulating, and is religiously, ethnically and socio-economically diverse;
- Attracting and retaining a highly qualified staff that is committed to excellence in service;

THE LEBANESE AMERICAN UNIVERSITY STRATEGIC PLAN

The overarching goal of the Lebanese American University is to function as "one university" with two campuses in an effective, efficient and nimble manner. The Strategic Goals are:

- To drive LAU to become a world-class institution of higher education;
- To target enrollment to achieve academic objectives while properly nurturing and supporting students;
- To provide a service-centered environment that stimulates and facilitates: student growth and development; intellectual and professional development for faculty and staff; scholarly and creative endeavors for faculty, students and staff;
- To make LAU the higher education employer of choice in Lebanon by instilling a culture of ownership, empowerment, fairness, accountability, integrity, and reward for achievement;
- To strengthen relationships with the extended LAU community;
- To demonstrate leadership in providing state-of-the-art systems and infrastructure to properly support academic, student and administrative activities and initiatives;
- To use financial resources in a well-planned and highly effective manner.

To achieve the institutional goals of the Lebanese American University, nine strategic initiatives were developed. These are:

- Promote excellence in teaching, learning and research;
- Develop an enrollment management program;
- Implement a human resources environment that enables employees to fulfill their responsibilities and achieve their aspirations;
- Establish shared governance among faculty, staff and students;
- Use information technology as a strategic tool for the implementation of change;
- Create a marketing function that coordinates communication, image and awareness activities, and supports academic program planning;
- Increase outreach to alumni through a PRIDE program that stresses the value and importance of alumni as key members of the University community;
- Develop a plan for increasing fundraising that supports revenue diversification and reduce LAU's reliance on tuition;
- Develop facilities and financial master plans.

These strategic initiatives have been purposefully designed to be interdependent and mutually supportive, providing benefit to one or more of the goals. Within each strategic initiative, various action steps are defined that will be required to accomplish the initiative.

CHARTER, ACCREDITATION AND AFFILIATIONS

Charter

LAU is chartered by the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York. The University of the State of New York is the sole entity authorized by the State of New York to incorporate higher education institutions and to authorize them to confer degrees.

In 1950, when LAU was known as Beirut College for Women, it was granted a provisional charter by the Board of Regents, and an absolute charter five years later. Since then, the charter has been amended several times in response to the institution's growth.

The University of the State of New York is a large system of educational services, including thousands of schools, colleges, universities, museums, libraries and other institutions. Its Board of Regents sets overall education policy for the State of New York and chooses a Commissioner of Education, who serves as University of the State of New York's president and heads the New York State Education Department.

Accreditation

Degrees awarded by the Lebanese American University are officially registered with the Ministry of Higher Education in Lebanon and with the Board of Education in the State of New York.

Institutional Accreditation

LAU became a candidate for accreditation by the Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the New England Association of Schools and Colleges (CIHE-NEASC) in 2007.

From November 8-11, 2009, the university underwent a comprehensive evaluation visit by a team representing the Commission that will recommend to the Commission a decision concerning the status of the institution. Following a review process, the Commission itself will take the final action in April 2010.

NEASC is the oldest regional accrediting association in the U.S., developing and regularly reviewing standards for educational institutions of all levels in the U.S. and other countries.

The stages LAU has completed since starting the rigorous accreditation process in fall 2005, have demonstrated the university's commitment to academic quality.

Program Accreditation

Several degree programs have been accredited or are seeking accreditation by American and European accrediting bodies. These programs include:

- The Doctor of Pharmacy program which is the only one outside the United States that is fully accredited by the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education, an autonomous and independent agency in the U.S. for the accreditation of professional degree programs in pharmacy and providers of continuing pharmacy education. This status allows LAU Pharm.D. graduates to sit for the North American Pharmacy Licensure Examination (NAPLEX), and practice in most U.S. states.

- The architecture degree is officially equivalent to the French five-year Diplôme d'Architecture program, which allows our graduates to practice in France and the European Union.

- The School of Engineering and the Department of Computer Science and Mathematics plan to submit their respective engineering and computer science programs for future professional accreditation by the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology in the U.S. in January 2010, once LAU attains full NEASC accreditation. In the academic year 2006-2007, the School of Engineering and the Department of Computer Science and Mathematics started laying out the groundwork for a self-study required by ABET. In addition, the School of Engineering plans to seek European accreditation for its engineering programs in order to expand the recognition of our degrees to a global level.

Affiliations

The Lebanese American University maintains affiliations with various associations and organizations locally, regionally and internationally. These include:

- LAU is a member of the Association of American International Colleges and Universities, which facilitates student exchanges and allows for information sharing among member institutions.

- In 2006, LAU signed a ten-year memorandum of understanding with Harvard Medical International, a not-for-profit subsidiary of Harvard University, for collaboration on the development of the School of Medicine, including curriculum design and faculty development.

- The LAU libraries in cooperation with three other university libraries in Lebanon (Kaslik University, Notre Dame University and University of Balamand) established an Interlibrary Loan/Document Delivery Services consortium, called LIDS. ILL/DDS allow LAU students, faculty and staff to have access to local and overseas library resources not available at LAU.

- In March 2008, the LAU libraries became a member of Online Computer Library Center, a non-profit library service and research organization. The libraries can now borrow and lend materials on behalf of their users from and to most OCLC libraries. Also, thanks to a Libraries Very Interested in Sharing agreement signed through OCLC, LAU libraries can now share resources with more than 700 libraries around the world for free.

- The Genomics and Proteomics Research Lab, established in Byblos in 2005, is the only non-European lab to be a regular member of SeqNet.org, an initiative of 50 laboratories from 27 European countries, which aims to establish a network for sequence-based typing of microbial pathogens.

- In partnership with the United Nations Association of the United States of America, LAU has organized three Global Classrooms–LAU Model United Nations events since 2006. The program acquaints students from private and public high schools throughout Lebanon to global issues, and allows them to role-play as UN member states delegates in model UN conferences. In May 2008, LAU introduced a new program called AL-WALID: Alpha Leadership Web for Arab Leaders in International Diplomacy, sponsored by the Alwaleed Bin Talal Humanitarian Foundation.

- The School of Pharmacy and the School of Medicine maintain affiliations with several local and international pharmacies and hospitals.

SAGE HALL - 1933

Sage Hall was built in 1933 through gifts from the women's organizations of the Presbyterian Church (USA), and was the first building to be constructed on Beirut campus. It is the main classrooms' building, and accommodates science laboratories, two large lecture rooms, faculty offices and the Academic Computer Center as well.

NICOL HALL – 1943

Nicol Hall was named after President James H. Nicol in 1943. It houses classrooms, faculty and administrative offices for several school units and functional departments, in addition to computer laboratories, a newsroom, a cafeteria, and a study room.

IRWIN HALL – 1950

Irwin Hall was completed in 1950. It has taken up the functions of the first administration building, and it stands as a fitting memorial to the splendid woman, Frances Irwin. This building houses a 396-seat auditorium. It also accommodates the Admissions and Registrar Offices, the Business Office, and the Finance Department Offices. The Central Administration Offices and auxiliary functions (conference rooms, lounges) are also hosted on a dedicated floor. An additional floor was added to accommodate classes.

SHANNON HALL – 1954

Shannon Hall, named after Acting President Winifred Shannon, was completed in 1954 and was built thanks to a gift from the Ford Foundation. It houses the Institute for Women's Studies in the Arab World, and administrative offices pertaining to Purchasing, Marketing & Communication, Financial Aid, and Internal Audit.

FACULTY APARTMENTS – 1955

It was completed in 1955. Faculty approved relocating to Capital Suites in the year 2008. Currently, the building houses administrative offices pertaining to the Human Resources, Information Technology, Facilities Management, and the Business Services departments and the offices of the Protection division. In its basement, the Faculty Apartments building houses the main Data Center of Beirut campus, which is currently sustaining major upgrading and renovation.

ORME-GRAY HALL – 1965

Orme-Gray Hall was named after former Acting President Rhoda Orme and former President Frances Gray; it was dedicated in 1965. The building was split into two wings in order to accommodate the offices for different school units and functional departments in one wing, and the female dormitories in the other. Classrooms and studios are also located in the lower two floors of the building.

SAFADI FINE ARTS CENTER – 1970

The Safadi Fine Arts Building accommodates the 344-seat Gulbenkian amphitheater. It also houses faculty offices, design, drawing, painting, sculpture, graphics and photography studios, the Sheikh Zayed Exhibition Hall, a rehearsal room, a music classroom, and Radio/TV studios.

GYMNASIUM – 1970

The gymnasium, built in 1970, contains facilities for a variety of physical education activities. It includes: an indoor heated swimming pool, a fitness room, a newly renovated basketball court, a dance room, showers, and the Athletics Department Offices. The building's rooftop hosts two tennis courts.

LEARNING RESOURCES CENTER – 1980

The Learning Resources Center is planned to serve as a Student Center where all student-related offices and clubs are accommodated. Currently it houses the Mimeographing Center, the Audio-Visual Center, the Fitness Center, SINARC, and campus storage.

BUSINESS BUILDING – 2005

The Business Building is an impressive modern complex that houses the School of Business. It accommodates smart classrooms, lecture halls, lounges, faculty and administrative offices, cooperative learning centers, Hospitality simulation room, and different functional areas that adequately serve the school needs.

RIYAD NASSAR LIBRARY – 2005

The library moved in the Summer of 2005 to its final destination, i.e., the Riyad Nassar Library with an area of 8,000 square meters. It accommodates open stacks, a special need area, conference rooms, group study areas, an audiovisual room, and a projection room.

UNDERGROUND PARKING– 2005

The Beirut campus enjoys an underground parking facility below the Business and Library buildings with an area of 11,110.5 square meters. It comprises a technical services area in one of its levels and an underground garage for 260 cars.

BYBLOS CAMPUS

Fall 1991 is an important date for the Lebanese American University as it marks the beginning of the journey and the evolution of the Beirut University College into a first class Multi-Campus University. In the fall of 1991, classes started at the new Byblos campus, which was founded on a beautiful mountainous area in Blat, Byblos. The land lot was then a 159,424 square meters area covered with evergreen oak trees.

UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS – BYBLOS CAMPUS

BUILDING	AREA IN SQUARE METERS	YEAR OF COMPLETION
Cafeteria Building	582	1991
Science Building	5,432	1991

Zakhem Engineering Hall	4,423	1996
Student Center	922	1997
Block A Building	7,904	1998
Dorms Block B Building	11,442	1998
Library Extension	453	2001

CAFETERIA BUILDING – 1991

The cafeteria was built during 1991. The lower floor of the cafeteria building accommodates the changing rooms, showers and toilets serving the nearby playgrounds. The upper level accommodates the cafeteria with its kitchen. The cafeteria overlooks the playgrounds and is located near the upper entrance gate.

SCIENCE BUILDING – 1991

The Science Building, completed in 1991, contains classrooms and laboratories for the different schools. Additionally, it houses offices for the President and Vice Presidents, as well as a large conference room. The first floor accommodates the Byblos campus library.

TOHME RIZK BUILDING – 1991

Tohme-Rizk Hall along with the Sciences Hall was completed in 1991. The four stories (including the attic) are used to cater to Administrative offices for the various departments related to Student Development & Enrollment Management, Student Services, and Finance.

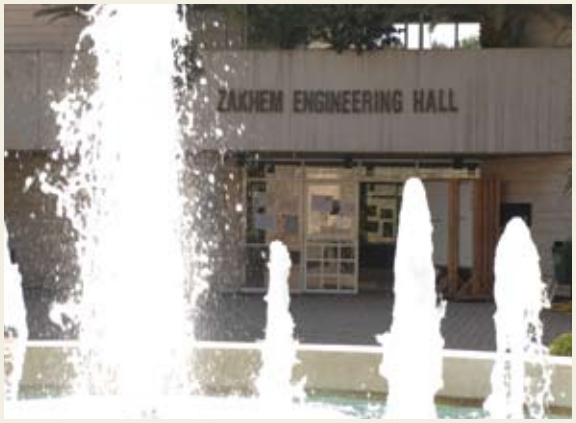
ARCHITECTURE HALL – 1995

This building was designed, as its name indicates, to accommodate and provide the Architecture School needs. It accommodates the wood and metal shops, ceramics and sculpture labs, photo studios, an Architecture computer lab along with classrooms, design studios and faculty offices.

BASSIL HALL – 1996

The first four levels in Bassil Hall accommodate faculty offices, and each level is being used by a school. The attic is subdivided into two areas. The first area was refurbished and used as a faculty lounge, while the second area houses a mechanical room that serves the building.

ZAKHEM ENGINEERING HALL – 1996



A seven stories building that relieved the limited existing built up area. It accommodates the Selina Korban Auditorium, exhibition room, classrooms, lecture halls, Graphic Design Computer Lab, industrial and electronic engineering labs, in addition to necessary offices and exam rooms.

STUDENT CENTER – 1997

During 1997 the basement area between the Bassil and Zakhem Engineering Hall was refurbished to become a remarkable student lounge and gymnasium. The student lounge is used as a multi-purpose room, and utilized for various campus activities. Offices were also observed in the same area for student services and sports instructors.

BLOCK A BUILDING – 1998

This building is a complex structure that accommodates the University storage and faculty offices for different school units: Art & Sciences, Pharmacy School, and a 1,200 m^2 flex space used temporarily by the Medical School. It also houses the Academic Computer Center, the Business Computer Center and administrative offices pertaining to Information Technology, Facilities Management, Human Resources, Finance and Business Services departments.

DORMS B BUILDING – 1998

On-campus student housing is the chance of a lifetime. It provides separate housing facilities for male and female students. Students are provided with comfortable settings that cater to their academic and social needs. It has two wings, one for male students composed of twenty-six individual rooms and seven separate “two rooms and a lounge” apartments; and another wing for female students composed of thirty-one rooms and nine apartments. Each wing consists of four floors, and each floor has its own “common room.”.

LIBRARY EXTENSION – 2001

It is a metallic prefabricated structure extension to provide additional space for the library. It is directly linked to the main library located in the Science Building and accommodates also administrative offices.

MAJOR BUILDING PROJECTS CURRENTLY UNDER CONSTRUCTION BYBLOS CAMPUS

FREM CIVIC CENTER

It is a five-storey building of a historic architectural design with an area of 5,241 square-meters. This building accommodates classrooms, lounges, multi-purpose rooms, lecture halls, meeting rooms, faculty and administrative offices, in addition to a studio pertaining to: University Institutes, School of Business and the Arts & Sciences.

MEDICAL SCHOOL

Construction of the Medical School building on the Byblos campus has started. LAU's School of Medicine is no ordinary building. It is envisioned as a state-of-the-art educational structure with an area of 14,500 square meters. The interior of the Medical School building will be divided into teaching, research, and academic and administrative spaces. It houses academic and modern simulation labs, research labs, multi-disciplinary research labs, a large anatomy lab, a 200-seat auditorium, smart classrooms, high-tech case method rooms, exam rooms, a medical library and reading lounges, open interactive space, and a cyber cafe, among other features. The building boasts world-class facilities supported by a range of technological solutions in the classrooms and beyond. It is a new world of interconnected learning.

OFF CAMPUS LOCATIONS

BEIRUT CAMPUS

Capital Suites Building – Off Campus Dorms
It is an off campus dorms building with an area of 1,919 square-meters and eight levels. In order to provide a more comfortable facility to the male resident students and faculty members, the LAU – Beirut dormitories and apartments have been moved off campus. The new facility is conveniently located at a 10-minute walking distance from LAU, in a highly secure area off Commodore Street. It accommodates residential units for male students and faculty members, and offers four faculty apartments, single rooms for 20 students and 16 shared rooms to accommodate 21 students.

BYBLOS CAMPUS

Off Campus Housing
Off Campus Housing with an area of 812 square-meters used to accommodate faculty members. Currently, the building is vacated to undergo a renovation project.

CAMPUS MASTER PLAN

The Campus Master Plan will reflect a physical translation of the university's mission to engage, prepare, and partner with our neighbors, national and international friends, and LAU students, faculty, and staff. The goal of the university is to guide future growth and development over the years, and to provide a physical campus framework that embodies the university's mission.
